

I understand that Sinclair Broadcasting is going to make their affiliated show "Stolen Honor" a blatant anti Kerry-Edwards documentary. It will be shown right before the election which quite probably against federal election law. It is tantamount to electioneering by a corporate media giant.

It is a broadcaster's duty, since the airwaves are free to all, to serve the public interest not present biased opinions, especially right before elections. This is a clear example of the dangers of Big Media and consolidation. Should they choose to air this they should follow it by "Up Rivot"

I urge you to put a stop to this. Sincerely, Faith Andrews Bedford
